EDITORS' PAGE

THIS is the first Class Book emanating from the Brooklyn Law School. The desire for it seemed to rise spontaneously from our class-mates, and in April, 1910, at a formal meeting of each Division of the Class, the respective Historians were directed to create it. No pretensions are made by them further than to supply each member with the likeness of his class-mate in return for his own, together with a few identification marks. Whether they have succeeded in making this book interesting or not remains for you to say. They have done their best. More than that can be expected of no one.

HARRY A. KAPIT,
FREDERICK WILCOCK, Editors

AFTERNOON DIVISION

The class government of the Afternoon Division was both successful and profitable. The students showed their spirit by attending the class meetings and displaying a great deal of interest in all school matters. The officers and committees were constantly supplying the students with polite entertainments, ice cold smokers and fashionable "hops." The class dinners and automobile rides gave the students an opportunity to come in close touch socially with the faculty. This was both instructive and entertaining and will be remembered after many other things are forgotten. They taught law, but have not failed to impress the students with the fact that to be friendly and sociable and help make this world a brighter and happier place to live in is all that can be expected of the greatest men.

EVENING DIVISION

For the Evening Division, its officers are impelled to feel that for steadiness and uniformity of effort in their studies by men who are confined by other employment during the day we hold the record. In the very nature of the circumstances social functions were ever held pretty much in abeyance. The frequent meetings, inclusive of carefully prepared debates, were instructive and interesting. The first annual dinner was held at the "Assembly" in May, 1909. Following the junior examinations in June we joined the afternoon men in an auto ride to Coney Island. Of course, the graduates are pleased to have finished the course. They look back with pride over the efforts that have brought results and will ever be gratified to the honored and esteemed faculty for their kind guidance and unselfish assistance.

DICK.

FOSTER L. BACKUS.

"It is 5 o'clock, Professor."

Born, 1889. Erasmus Hall High School, 1908. Member of Phi Delta Phi Fraternity.

No, Dick is not a poet. He is a practical man, and combs his hair like one. Ears pressed back, cool and calm, ready for any emergency. As a time saver he is a winner, and never fails to call the professor's attention to the fact that the hour is up. He is the class creator of independence, the father of liberty.

ANDY.

ANDREW BIAGINI.

"Still water runs deep."

Born, 1885. Member of Theta Phi Frat. Manual High, 1902. Member of P. & P. Fraternity.

Quiet water raises no disturbance, but it penetrates deeply into the earth. Andy and his voice could easily be compared with the water, except the fact that Andy has a dislike for H₂O. His blond hair, soothing voice and baby smile are example of Nature's kindness.

JOEY.

JOSEPH BURSTEIN.

"You Can Hear Him Smile."

Joe's chief asset is his smile, which he always carries with him. The study of law may be a serious matter, but it never worries him. His answers may be declared "irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial" by the Professor, but that never ruffles his smile, nor displaces his equanimity.

EDIE.

EDUARD CARL CHRISTENSEN.

Graduate of Commercial High, 1905.

Clerk with law firm of Forster, Hotaling & Klenke, New York. Born in Brooklyn, January 28, 1889. Still single. Address, No. 130 Sterling Street, Brooklyn.

RICHIE.

RICHMOND BAILEY CLAPERTON.

"Whose loving smiles and tender speech Like Marcus Anthony did us teach."

President 1910, Evening Division. Graduate of Poly
Prep., Scientific Course, 1904; was class orator.

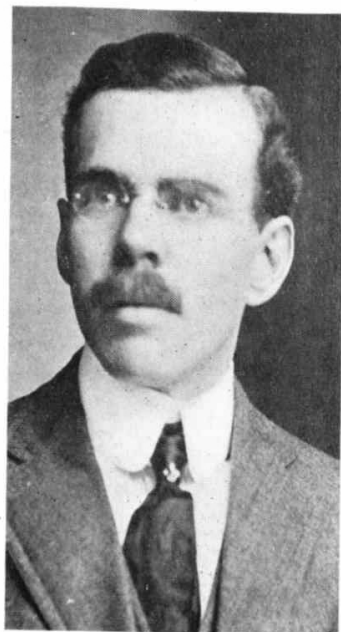

Business, real estate and insurance. Born in Brooklyn,
March 3, 1884. Address, No. 354-A Quincy Street. Phi
Delta Phi Frat.

MAURICE P. COFFIN.

"What's in a name?"

Maurice may be quiet and serious, but he's immensely alive for a' that, and a scholar of no mean ability.

FRANKIE.

FRANK EDWIN DAVIS.

Born in Boston, Mass., October 8, 1877. Graduated from New York Preparatory School 1908. Treasurer 1909 and 1910, Evening Division. Business, life insurance. Address, No. 162 South Portland Avenue, Brooklyn.

CHARLIE.

CHARLES H. EISENBERG.

"Awake; arise or be forever fallen."

Born, 1879.

No one will dispute the fact that Charlie is a profound student, although he hates to part with his knowledge even when called upon to recite. Talk may be cheap, but silence is still cheaper.

ED.

EDGAR HAZELTON.

"The orator of the class."

Born, 1889. Richmond Hill High, 1908.

If we all could convince a jury with the ease that Edgar does, then our fortunes would be made. His style is so impressive that one is bound to do as he requests. He has done much towards making things merry and cheerful, and has never failed to attend a class function. He possesses real, live, human spirit.

GEORGIE.

GEORGE HELFGOTT.

"A member of the social set."

Born, 1890. T. H. H. and C. C. N. Y.

Georgie is sweet and cute, possessing a very pretty smile. He is certainly a good judge of the opposite sex. His reputation was made, when, at one of the class hops, he escorted a beautiful damsel to the ball room. You ought to have seen the boys behave, Oh, my!

MACK.

MAX DANIEL FRANT.

"Wilt thou have music?"

Born, 1888.

Handsome Mack, the boy with the tight collar and the swan neck. He never fails to come just in time to be a little late. When called upon to recite his deliberation gives the Professor ample time to discover whether Mack is right or wrong. He is usually right.

SAMMY.

SAMUEL GEDULD, C.E.,

"Patience, thy name is Geduld."

Sam is a good student and a good fellow, too. He's always on the job when there is a bit of fun to be had and adds much to the merriment. He is one of the leading members of the P. and P. Fraternity, in which he acts as instructing engineer and general adviser.

JOHN C. GILES, JR.

Born, Elizabeth, N. J., November 30, 1880.

Education: Public School, graduate of Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Architectural Department, 1899. Pratt Institute, 1901.

HENIE.

HENRY K. GOLENBOCK.

"The leader of them all."

Ocean Grove High School.

President during Junior Year.

As a leader Henry has no equal. What he has done for the class socially and otherwise will be remembered after many other important matters have been forgotten. He has devoted a great deal of his time to looking after the students' welfare, and has received but little credit in return. He is always a quiet, interesting and entertaining fellow, with a kind and cheerful word for everyone. He does not take himself too seriously, and yet commands the respect of all who know him. The P. and P. is glad to claim him as a member.

JOSH.
JOSHUA G. GOLUBOCK.

"An expert financier."

Born, 1888. Boys' High School. Clerk at C. C. N. Y. Treasurer of Class of 1910. Chairman Arrangement Committee, 1909 and 1910. Member of P. and P. Fraternity.

Josh is the best press agent the school has ever had. As a financier he stands par excellence. He has done more for the class of 1910 than any other student. He can run any kind of an affair from a prayer meeting to a circus. He has written many songs for the school which will be remembered forever. Dull care never desired to have him as an opponent. The students certainly owe him a great deal for the good times which he has provided for them. Will we ever forget that stag?

CARL.

CARL GRAFF.

"Tall, but not lean."

Theta Phi Frat.

If you are at any time in need of an expert witness, see Carl. He manufactures testimony at a moment's notice, and at the same time convinces the court that it is the solemn truth. Being a giant in size, he commands respect and attention, and no one dares to challenge his physical prowess.

STOCKYARD.

CHARLES STOCKDELL GRAY.

"Is matrimony a failure?"

Born, 1882. C. C. N. Y., Sect. Senior Even. Chairman
Dinner Committee, 1909.

Judge Charlie says "If you want to enjoy real matrimonial bliss, marry an innkeeper's daughter." There being no dissenting opinion, the decision is unanimously affirmed.

VIC.

VICTOR GERALD HAAS.

*Always merry, happy and gay
From "rise of morn till down of day."*

Born at Thorn Hill, Syracuse, December 16, 1886.

Completed his education at the Rome Free Academy and the Brooklyn Evening High School, graduating in 1908. Clerks with a banking house of New York. Present address, No. 335, South Fifth Street.

ROB.

ROBERT B. JORDAN.

"Any news to-day?"

Born, 1877.

Rob was a newspaper man and a good one, too. He does not believe in wasting words, but when he talks his vocabulary is not used in vain. His manners are impressive and his bearing withal most dignified.

HAK.

HARRY A. KAPIT.

Born, 1889. Class Historian 1909 and 1910. Townsend Harris Hall. Member of P. and P. Fraternity.

IVANEA.

IVAN E. A. KONIGSBERG.

"First in war and first in peace."

Royal Military Academy of Copenhagen. Patent attorney and mechanical expert. Treasurer of Junior Year.

His Highness Count Ivan has ever been one of the most stalwart supporters of the organization of the Class of 1910. His sane advice and valuable information has been of immense benefit to the student body. As a collector and keeper of funds, his reputation is excellent. A most flourishing condition of the class treasury marked his regime in office.

WALTER J. KEATING.

"Silence! Keating speaks."

Born March 14, 1878.

Native of Vermont and attended High School there. At present, special agent for New York Telephone Company. Address, No. 85 Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn.

EMY.

EMIL KLEIN.

"A little louder, Emy, we can't hear you."

Born in New York, January 29, 1890. Attended Stuyvesant High School.

Law clerk.

BILL.

WILLIAM KOCH.

"He that has music wherever he goes."

Born in New York, September 2, 1888. Attended Boys' High, Brooklyn. Theta Phi Frat.

Clerk for the law firm of Niles & Johnson, New York.
Address, No. 1419 Jefferson Avenue.

HARRY.

HARRY W. LAIDLER, B.A.

*"And still they gazed and still their wonder grew,
That one small head carried all he knew."*

Born, 1884. Boys' High School, 1902; Wesleyan, 1907.

Member of Phi Delta Phi Frat. President of Senior Class. Member of Phi Beta Kappa Society.

Harry, who is best known as Debs Junior, entered the Law School with a great reputation, which followed him from Wesleyan. As president of the class he always maintained peace and harmony among the students. He is ever radiant and happy, and spreads good cheer all over the universe.

BARK.

BARKER DUNCOMB LEICH

"Sweetness and light drive away dull care."

Secretary 1910, Evening Division.

Graduate of Commercial High, 1908; President of that class and member of Kappa Sigma Phi. Business, law stenographer and clerk, with Latson, Tamblyn & Pickard, New York. Address, Brooklyn, at No. 314 Monroe Street, where he was born December 3, 1890. Our youngest classmate.

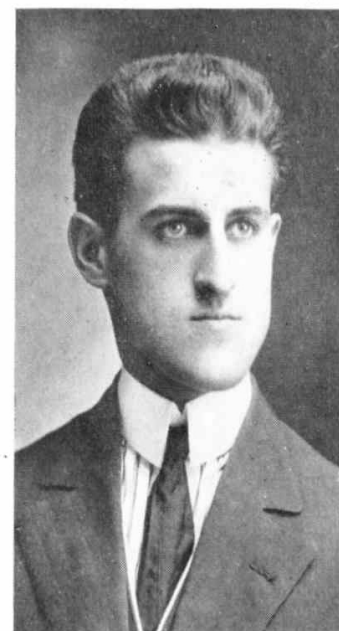

ISAAC LEVINE.

"Be on guard lest thou be twisted."

Born, 1889. Erasmus Hall High School, 1908.

Sir Isaac should remember that there are many people in this world who try to confuse their neighbors. Often during his recitations Isaac would complain that the Professor's questions were of a twisting nature. However, we are sure that he will benefit from the experience.

TIM.

TIMOTHY JOSEPH MAHONEY.

*"Questions, questions, everywhere,
And other questions for answers."*

Born in Brooklyn August 7, 1889. Graduate of Boys' High, 1908. Phi Delta Phi Frat.

Law clerk, No. 215 Montague Street. Address, No. 139½ Twenty-fourth Street.

MURRY.

MORRIS H. MANDEL.

"I'll Toss You."

Born, 1887. Member P. and P. Fraternity.

This world has room for more men like "Murry." His happy spirit and jolly manners makes him a very desirable citizen.

WILLIE.

WILLIAM G. MIROW.

*"Don't confound the language of the nation,
With long-tailed words in 'osity' and 'ation.'"*

Born, 1889. Townsend Harris Hall; C. C. N. Y. Secretary of Junior and Senior Class; Librarian.

If at any time you are in doubt as to the meaning of any word in the English language, see Willie. He is, without a doubt, the greatest lexicographer the school has ever possessed. He can gargle such a word as "transmagnificadambamuality" with the greatest ease. The boys will certainly miss his wonderful exhibitions of "vocabularic" expressions.

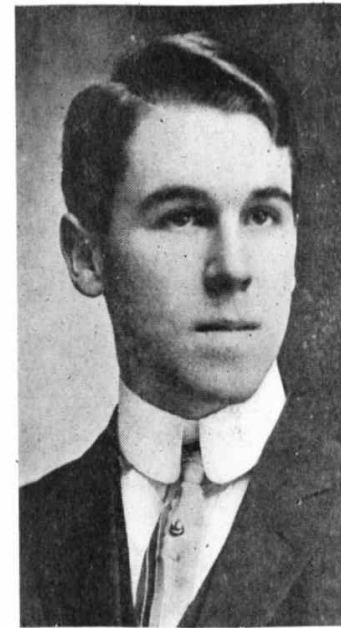

EDIE.

EDWARD SAMUEL MORSE, JR.

"His smile is like the sunshine of an April day."

Born in Buffalo, N. Y., 1884. Received elementary education in Syracuse. Graduated High School and Teachers' Training Class in 1902.

NELIE.

NELSON LUTHER NORTH, JR.

"What a melodious voice."

Born, 1890. Boys' High School, 1908. Phi Delta Phi.

If you hear a soft, plaintive, imploring and beseeching voice, you can rest assured that "Battling Nelson" is in the immediate vicinity. There is nothing more we enjoy than hearing him recite. Juries, beware!

BILL.

WILLIAM O'HARE.

Conveyancer. Born in Brooklyn June 7, 1878. Graduate New York Preparatory School, 1907. Hush, don't scare O'Hare! Can't you hear him talking to King Morpheus?

LOUIS.

LOUIS PARISER, B.A.

"Life is one good thing after another."

Born, 1885. C. C. N. Y., 1905. Vice-President of Senior Class.

He is round and fat, jolly and gay, interesting and entertaining, our own chubby, tubby Louis. If at any time you feel that dull care is getting the better of you, communicate with Louis, and you will be surprised at the wonderful results. The P. and P. Fraternity consider him their prize member. The spirit he has shown in helping to promote many sociable events is worthy of note.

JERRY.

JEROME PERLMUTTER.

"Are you sleepy?"

Born, 1884

Jerry is a firm believer in the adage that plenty of sleep increases one's beauty. He has given practical demonstrations of his belief many times during lectures. His quietness and dignity makes it most easy for Morpheus to get a toe hold on him."

MISS I.

IDA PODELEFSKY.

"Portia a la 1910."

Born, 1886. Hon. Vice-President of Senior Class.

To have the distinction of being the brightest student of the class is something to be proud of. The Class of 1910 is more than glad to claim Miss Ida as one of its members. The opposite sex is to be envied for having such a bright, clever, dainty, entertaining and fair young damsel as one of their clan.

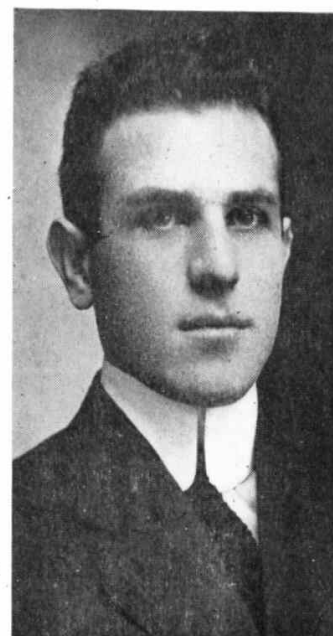

BEN.

BENJAMIN HARRISON RUBENSTEIN.

"No, not a farmer, a naturalist."

Railroad rate clerk. Born in New York November 24, 1888. Attended a Public School and the New York Preparatory School. Address, No. 29 Grand Street, Maspeth, N. Y.

MACK.

MAX RUBIN.

JOE.

JOSEPH ROSENTHAL.

"Captain of the good ship Mary."
Erasmus Hall High. W. S. N. A., 1910.

Although Joe looks like a very quiet fellow, yet we know for a positive fact that he can create a proper amount of disturbance at the right time. He has helped make merry at all the class functions. Joe is one of the bright lights of the P. and P. Fraternity.

TEDDY.

THEODORE I. SCHWARTZMAN.

"Make room, here comes Teddy."

Born, 1887. Boy's High School. Member of P. and P. Fraternity.

You can always count on Teddy when there is a bit of fun about. He holds the best record of any student for attending school sociables, and of helping in the merriment. The spirit he has shown in all the class affairs earns him the affection of all the students. Long live Teddy.

HEN.

HENRY SEIDEN.

*"A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the best of men."*

Law clerk, No. 215 Montague Street. Born in New York, May 29, 1880. Attended the Public Schools of New York. Address, No. 222 Pacific Street, Brooklyn.

IZZ.

ISIDOR E. SCHLESINGER.

"Round the world in 80 days."

Born, 1885.

Izz has traveled extensively through this country and Europe. The tales that he tells of his experiences are simply wonderful. If at any time you want to see the world call upon him. He will supply you with some valuable information. His stories are as interesting and entertaining as moving pictures. The P. and P. Fraternity is real proud of him. As a student he is second to none.

JOSEPH LOUIS SCHWARTZ.

"Rise, and be blessed."

Teacher in the New York Public Schools. Degree of A.B., 1904, College City of New York; subsequently studied Semitics and Education at Columbia University, Principal of Jewish Endeavor Religious School and President of the Jewish Endeavor Society of America. Born at Lublin, Russian Poland, January 6, 1884. Address, No. 169 Wilson Street, Brooklyn.

ABE.

ABRAHAM SAFFIR.

*"A better talker we've not seen yet;
But, please, what are your pleadings about?"*

Law clerk, with Stern & Pollak; formerly special agent United States Census Office. Born August 23, 1888. Attended College City of New York three years. Address, No. 1829 Fulton Street, Brooklyn.

LOEB.

ABRAHAM L. SALKIN.

*"Seek, and thou shalt find;
Knock, and it shall be opened unto thee."*

Born, 1889.

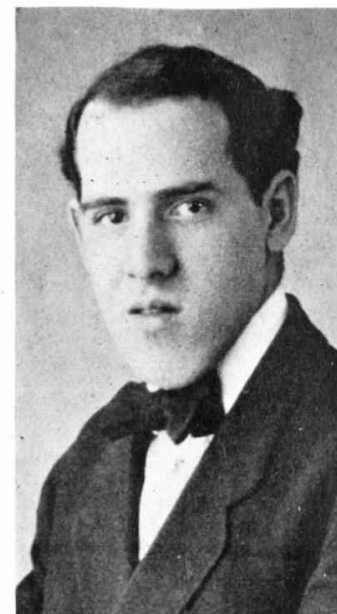

Question-mark Abe knows law and many other things, too. The fact that he knows enough to want to know more shows that he knows. The class owes him a great deal for being instrumental in gaining extra knowledge for them by making special inquiries. He does not believe in being in doubt. He would rather ask and be positive than grope in darkness.

FRED.

FREDERICK SIESHOLTZ.

Born April 2, 1890 in New York. Graduate of Public School No. 188, 1904. Address, No.

ALL.

ALEXANDER R. TENDLER.

"The musical lawyer."

Judge Alex., the man with the iron grip and mahogany jaw, has no fear for the Court of Appeals. Many times he instructed the Professor to spread upon the minutes his objection to the decisions of the courts. C. C. N. Y.

LEO.

LEON M. WOODWORTH.

"Oh, you bear cat."

Born, 1889. C. H. S., 1906. Delta Chi. N. Y. U.

We missed Leon very much during our Junior year. But why lament time that is passed, when his presence in the Senior Class made up for it? He took a great deal of interest in all class matters, and helped run things smoothly by his sound advice and noble efforts.

FREDY.

FREDERICK WILCOCK.

Civil engineer, senior assistant for the Public Service Commission on the construction of the existing subway and tunnel in Brooklyn and the East River. Born in England, September 23, 1873, resided in Brooklyn since 1882. Graduated at Harvard, S.B., Address, No. 859 Fifty-first Street, Brooklyn.

MILTON.

MILTON WRIGHT.

Inspector New York Telephone Company. Graduate Boys' High, Brooklyn, 1907. Born in Pittsburg, Pa. December 30, 1887. Address, No. 414 Seventh Street, Brooklyn.

HARRISON B. WRIGHT.

"Wright is all right."

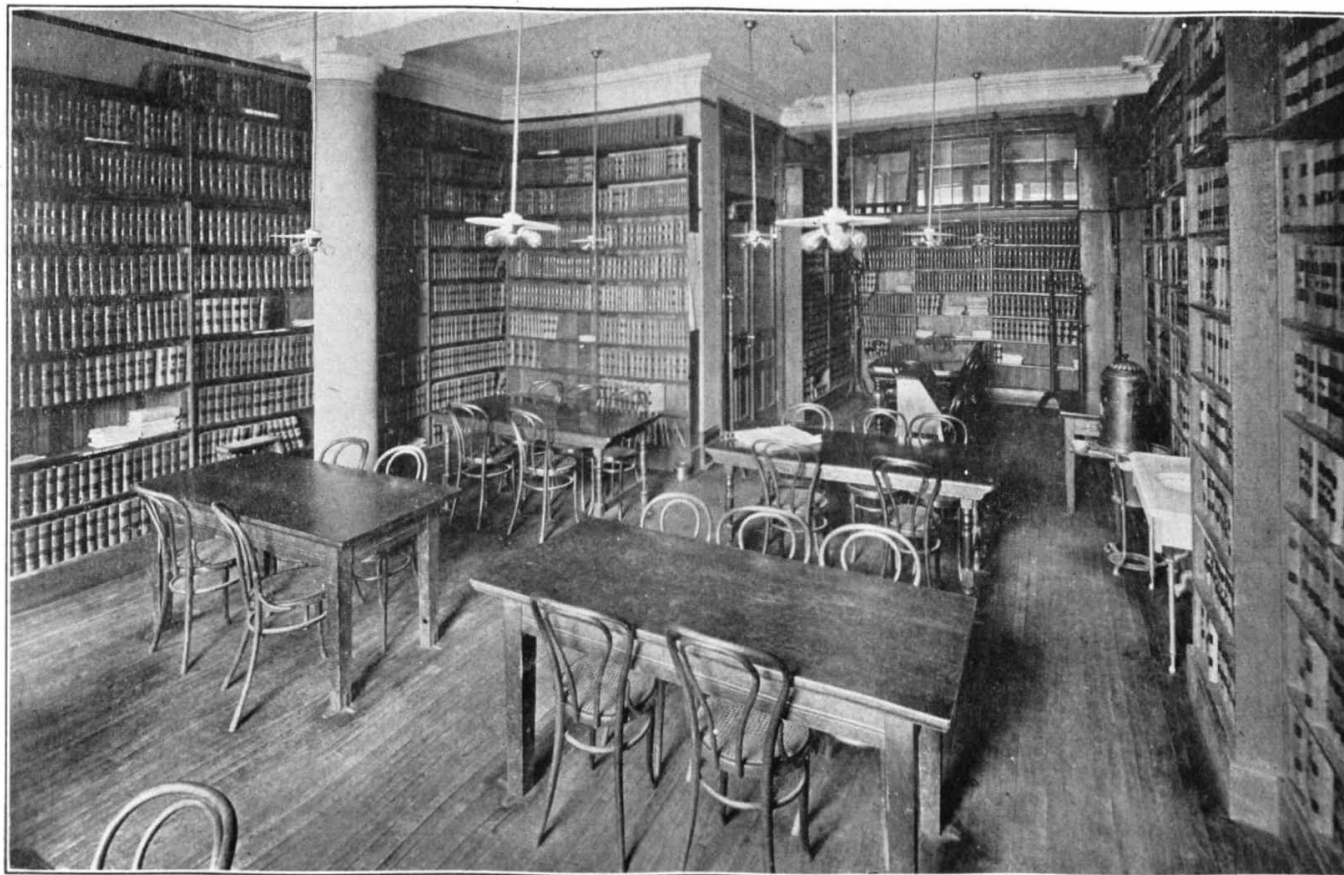

Born, 1888. Rockville Center High.

Blondy Harrison selected a chair in the corner of the room two years ago, and has kept it since. This leads us to believe that his modesty prevents him from placing himself in full public view.

ABRAHAM F. ZAINIE.

PHI DELTA PHI FRATERNITY

THE legal fraternity of the Phi Delta Phi is properly ranked among the foremost of the Greek letter societies. The motto, the grip and the passwords are not communicated to outsiders, but no special secrecy attaches to the general policy or ideals.

It was founded in the law school of the University of Michigan in 1869. The first chapter was named in honor of Chancellor Kent, thus inaugurating the custom, which has since obtained, of naming the chapters after distinguished American lawyers. In order that the highest possible standard of membership be maintained, it was ordained at the very inception of the fraternity that chapters be established only in law schools of high standing, and then not unless the consent of all existing chapters has been obtained.

The purposes for which the Fraternity is maintained can best be expressed by quoting the preamble of the Constitution of Kent Chapter:— "In order to promote a higher standard of professional ethics and culture in this and other law schools and in the profession at large, and desiring to unite ourselves in the endearing bonds of affection and brotherly love, for the purpose of compassing these ends—do associate ourselves into a fraternity."

THETA PHI LAW FRATERNITY

THIS Fraternity was organized in 1902 and during its seven years of existence it has prospered and grown until now it is one of the foremost of its kind in the State of New York.

The main purpose of this organization is to foster the study of law and bring students into closer relationship, so that they may not only partake of their fellow students' knowledge, but also the practical experience of older members who have already entered the legal profession. A large library which is constantly being enlarged allows the members opportunity to read their cases and text together and to discuss same with fellow members. By this arrangement many salient points, which are casually glanced over by the ordinary reader, are acquired. Members have ingress to read cases, etc., on Sundays and when the library of the school is not open. These are but few of the many advantages obtained, which are evidenced by the many important roles, member of this fraternity play in the limelight of the legal profession, as aldermen and the like.

P. AND P. FRATERNITY

THE P. and P. Fraternity is one of the oldest institutions in the world. The " Rambler Chapter " formed at the Brooklyn Law School is the first ever organized. The purpose and aim of the institution is to promote good fellowship among the students and make dull care step lively.
